

The Travel and Leisure Show 2009

Great ideas for day trips, weekend breaks and holidays abroad will be on offer at KOS Media's second annual Travel and Leisure Show, at the Dover Cruise terminal on Sunday, March 29.

The Travel and Leisure Show has received official accreditation from the organisers of British Tourism Week, which runs from March 23-29 and aims to raise awareness of the importance of Britain's visitor economy.

Dover and Deal MP Gwyn Prosser has also voiced his support for the initiative and will be in attendance.

As well as the large number of companies exhibiting at the event, there will also be a competition to win a two-week cruise courtesy of Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines (correct) as well as many other great prizes.

All of the main cruise lines will be represented at the show, and there are many exceptional deals to be had this year too, whether it is a 'no-fly' cruise from Dover or Southampton, or flight and cruise to the Caribbean, and beyond.

Kent attractions will again play a major part in the show, and this will be even more relevant this year, as more people look to take holidays in Britain.

Historic sites, gardens, steam railways, and other larger attractions will be exhibiting, alongside many of Kent's hidden gems.

Last year many visitors expressed their surprise and delight at the many opportunities that were on their own doorstep.

If a short break across the Channel is something that appeals, then nearly all the ferry operators will be there to give help and advice, and indeed some special prices.

The presentation theatre will run throughout the day, and there will be presentations on a wide range of travel and leisure activities

Younger children will be able to visit a face-painter while their older siblings can experience the thrill of the TechZone, which will have a range of video game systems available to enjoy.

Last year's event was a huge success, with more than 4,000 visitors cramming into Dover Cruise Terminal to find out more about information to help plan their holidays.

Hot and cold food and drinks, including alcohol, will be available at the show, which will run from 10am until 4pm. Entry is free and there will be ample free parking available.

For more detailed information please visit: www.thetravelandleisureshow.co.uk